hello world!®

... intelligent telephony on software basis

mioco

mind of communication
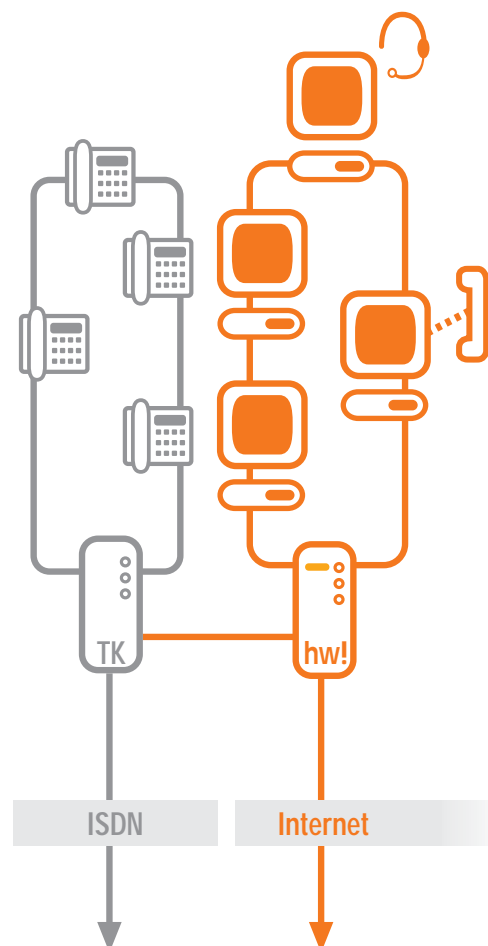

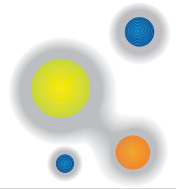

hello world! office

... for small and medium-sized enterprises

Turn your computer network into a telephone system. Every PC becomes an extension and every workstation can assume the function of the operator set. Furthermore, members of the staff or teleworkers can take their extension with them everywhere and are thus always accessible.

With its functional Windows user interface hello world! office fits smoothly into your customary Office environment.

hello world! office has, of course, all comfort features of a traditional telephone system. Your extension can even be integrated into your personal Microsoft Outlook account. This means all relevant information on every call is available to you at once.
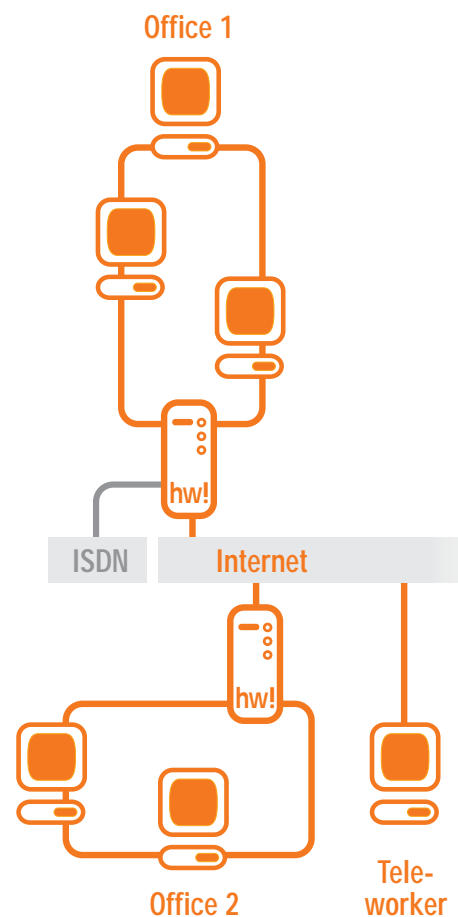

TK

hw!

ISDN

Internet

hello world! enterprise
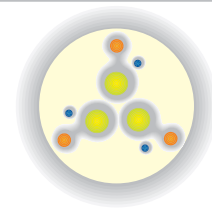

... for call centres and corporations

Interlink your locations. hello world! enterprise meets the highest demands regarding location independence and cost transparency.

Expensive communications between the locations via public and private telephone networks becomes superfluous. Your telephone system is integrated into the network of your distributed locations such that costly decentralized administration is not required.

The existing data lines are used for voice communications and all members of the staff remain accessible via their usual extension wherever they may be.
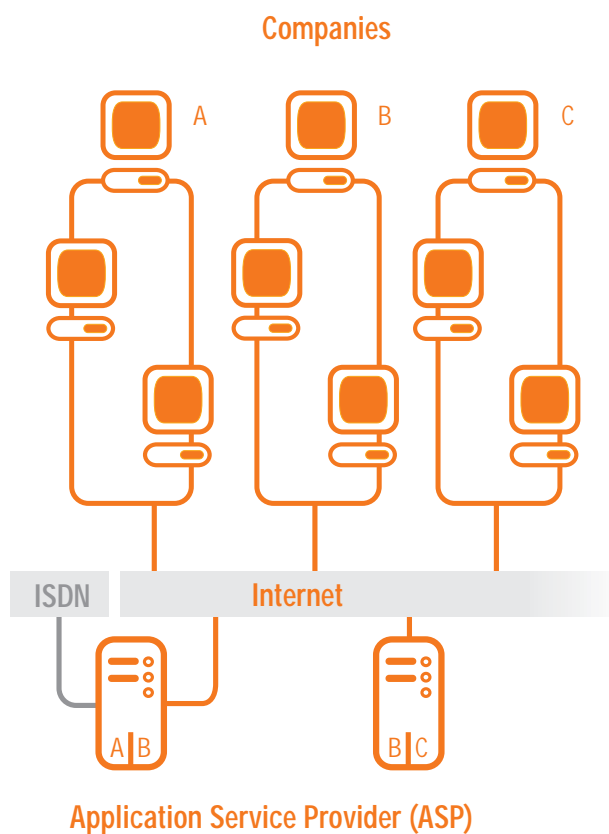

Office 1

hw!

ISDN   Internet

hw!

Office 2   Tele-worker

mioco
mind of communication

hello world! asp

... for several companies: One hosting approach

Let our system handle the calls. With hello world! asp it is possible to offer a telephone system based exclusively on software as a central service for several internal and external companies. This means an Application Service Provider (ASP) minimizes your administration and investment expenditures. The costs are allocated clearly to persons, locations and projects.

The location of the telephone system and the whereabouts of the staff remain spatially separate from each other. And: the size of the telephone system can be adapted to the current needs of your company at short notice - depending on the order situation.

Companies

A   B   C

ISDN   Internet

A B   B C

Application Service Provider (ASP)

mioco
mind of communication

hello world! by mioco

mioco is the technology specialist for implementation of complex and distributed telephony systems.

The hello world! software family developed by mioco on the basis of IP telephony is designed to expand and then later replace traditional telephone systems.

mioco

mind of communication

hello world! just listen

mioco GmbH

Kantstraße 54
10627 Berlin
Germany

Hermann-Hollerith-Straße 9
28355 Bremen
Germany

Tel. +49 (421) 4377- 0
Fax +49 (421) 436 87 89

info@mioco.com
www.mioco.com

Passed on by:

mioco

mind of communication